WASHINGTON In grapplying with the still far from resolved mystery of who and what secret police official who recentwas behind Lee Harvey Os ly defected in Geneva and was wald's assassination of Presi-granted U.S. asylum. dnt Kennedy, the special infocusing much thought and effort on a series of baffling Jues. Nossenko was in the "American tions.

These sgnificant questions have surged to the fore as a direct result of the weeks of testimony and evidence compiled by the commission so far. This information, while shedding some light on the key enigma of the motivation behind the murder, has raised more questions than have been answered.

Primary reason is that these salient questions deal with a phase of the killer's life that is still murky and unexplained the three years he spent in Russia as an avowed defector, and official U.S. records on his strange case and what heppened to him,

Whether the commission will ever get any clarifying answers. remains to be seen. It hasn't so far, and apparently has a long way to go.

That is evidenced by the time. and attention the probers are concentrating on these matters. Also by the witnesses slated to appear a closed-door sessions in the near future.

They include FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, Central Intelli-gence Director John McCone, and Mrs. Ruth Paine, who befriended the Oswalds, particularly his Russian wife, before and after the assassination. Hoover and McCone have submitted detailed reports to the commission, but individual members have indicated they want to personally discuss certain matters with them.

Another possible Yuri Nossenko, the high-ranking.

Nossenko might be in a posivestigating commission is now tion to know quite a bit about Oswald and his widow, Marina. section" of KGB, which afforded him access to plans and operations of Soviet agents in the U.S.

Mrs. Paine is considered by commission members as a potentially key witness.

They point out she was on close terms with the Oswalds, particularly the widow, months before the assassination. Also that she betriended Mrs. Oswald after the murder, but that lately coolness has developed between them. The probers are curious about that, and want to know the reason.

A well-informed and energetic Quaker, Mrs. Paine has been active in liberal causes, among them furthering U.S.-Soviet relations. She is credited as having talked with Oswald about his views and activities.

How much light Mrs. Paine can or will shed on the salient questions being pondered by the commission is conjectural. In unresolved substance, these puzzles boil down to the follow-

How and why Oswald and his wife apparently had no difficulty in meeting and going around together, although Russians are required to immediately report. to police any association they have with foreigners. The commission so far has no information on whether Mrs. Oswald did report her association with Oswald and, if she did, how and why that was allowed-especially in view of the fact that her uncle is a colonel in the Soviet able to marny Marina with such apparent lack of difficulty. Other foreigners have encountered great obstacles in marrying Russians, particularly in taking them out of the country But there is no evidence Osward had any frouble at all in marrying Marina, and obtaining permission for them to leave the Soviet.

How and why Oswald was ble to get a job that paid nim about twice what his wife was naking. Although basically unkilled, he quickly secured emloyment at $88 a week as a soalled radio technician. Marina. ith the equivalent of a junior ollege education and a trained aboratory technician, received nly $16 a week. The probers iow these facts as particularly nusual and far from coinciental.

What U.S. authorities in the Moscow embassy did about Osvald, especially in view of his' innounced defection and desire? o renounce his American citi-; enship. Was a check made on Dswald? Was a report submited to the State Department. and if so what was done about: t? Were the CIA, FBI and Sc-! cret Service informed? The commission has no indication hat was done, and wants to: now why.
